The Paw Paw merchants have anticipated the wants of the Holiday trade this year, and there will be no need for any one to go out of town to buy suitable gifts. There seems to be a tendency this year to confine the gifts more to something serviceable, than to luxuries as in the years gone by. But for those who want the luxuries, their wants can be satisfied at the local stores.

S. army. Mr. Harbould has made many friends in Paw Paw during his stay here, and was popular not only with the students but with the patrons as well. His going leaves a vacancy that will be hard to fill.

Have you mailed your Christmas parcels yet? If not, it is about time to think about it. The congestion of the mails at Christmas time makes it practically impossible to insure delivery of parcels in time if they are mailed at the last minute. The clerks at the post office will all have more than they can do just prior to Christmas, and from every conceivable standpoint it is desirable for every person who contemplates the mailing of Christmas parcels to get them in the office early. The regulations permit the inscription, "Don't open until Christmas." Mail your parcels now.

Extensive building operations of Government in cities especially port cities, make a great demand for labor, which is hard to get. A clipping from Charlestown, West Virginia, sent by L. H. Harrison gives a recital of the immense plans for Government construction in that city alone. A projectile plant to cost $1,750,000 (now under construction) and a $11,000,000 armor plate plant is demanding thousands of additional dwellings in that city. One company alone of that city has contracted to build 2,200 dwelling houses for the accommodation of workmen. They are handicapped, the clipping states on account of scarcity of material and labor.

The mercury has been hovering around the zero mark all the week. Tuesday night in some localities it reached the nine below mark. There is also plenty of snow for good sleighing, probably about eight inches on the level. Mighty fine for the winter season, but there is no relief in sight from the coal shortage. Dealers can give no assurance as to when coal will arrive, and when a car does come it is parceled out a little in a place to make it go as far as possible. If the severe cold weather continues, the situation will soon become critical.

Among the Paw Paw boys who have enlisted during the past two weeks are the following:—Cecil Haworth, Lynn Salisbury and Lloyd LePert, who have passed the examinations and are now on their way to Texas; Dale Hinckley, Frank Nash, Eugene Bailey and Irvin Fisher, who left last Monday morning, and are probably now in Columbus, Ohio; Dell Maguire, Ward Salisbury, Clyde Cochran and Roy Hess, who left Tuesday. County Farm Agent Farrand and Commissioner of schools E. V. Root are already making plans to relieve as far as possible the Shortage of Farm help situation next season. The schools of this line last fall, and more can be accomplished by systematic preparation and distribution next season. So far as we are able to learn, the student labor last season was entirely satisfactory, and farmers generally are grateful for the liberality and patriotism of school boards in arranging for this labor. South Haven schools alone sent out twenty-one young men for work in the vineyards in this vicinity. The school board of South Haven, together with those of other communities who did their best to relieve a serious labor situation are entitled to the grateful thanks of the entire county.

Ray Wheaton was calling on Paw Paw friends Wednesday. He expressed himself as being well pleased with his business at Hartford. He has designed a new label "Wheat-Hart" for his bread and states that the merchants of that village recently met and agreed to sell nothing but bread baked at the home bakery. He certainly has no fault to find with the encouragement offered by the home merchants.

John Ketcham, master of the Michigan state Grange in his annual address to the state organization, calls upon the U. S. Government to fix the price of cost to the farmer as well as the selling price. Under sheriff Lang arrested Claude Cross a nineteen year old boy hailing from Kendall, in Gobleville last Tuesday. He is charged with forging the name of Alfred Dickson to a $20.50 check which he cashed at the Gobleville bank, and also the name of Carl Phillips as payee of the check. He protested his innocence to cashier Graham of the bank, claiming that he had never been in the bank. But after a night of meditation in the jail, he confessed the crime to the under sheriff Wednesday morning. It is said that the young man is out on parole from Kalamazoo county, and that he has enlisted in the army, expecting to go next Monday.

The belief is still common among primitive and unlearned people that there is a specific remedy for every disease—an herb for every ailment. The people must be taught that disease is not an accident or a dispensation of Providence, or the infliction of an evil spirit; but the result of environment, the result of lack of proper living. They must learn that health does not return by magic or by magic compounds, but must be restored by a personal battle with disease. The greatest weapon of defense is education. Read and study the health questions of the day and be a leader in the fight. The leading magazines and newspapers of the country are devoting much space to the subject in order that an enlightened community will be ready to stay the dread of disease epidemic. It is too late after an epidemic has appeared. Start now and learn how to prevent its appearance. Every community meeting or social gathering should have at least one live health topic discussed. The State Board of Health has free literature on the restriction and prevention of communicable diseases.

Paw Paw people generally were interested in the outcome of the boxing contest last Monday night at Racine, Wisconsin, in which Homer Smith went ten rounds with Bill Brennan of Chicago. While the newspaper decision was all in favor of the Chicago fighter, it is by no means a disgraceful defeat for the Paw Paw boy. Brennan is one of the most promising contenders for the heavy weight championship in the country, and by his decisive defeats of nearly all his opponents has come to be known as "Knock Out Brennan." Homer has defeated nearly all of the second class fighters in the country, and this was really his first big scrap. Ring-side critics attributed his defeat to overtraining and to the fact that he was over anxious and nervous. He has trained down to 160 pounds, while Brennan tipped the beam at 197. Homer will undoubtedly be heard from in the big game later.

He usually finishes between fifty and sixty heads a season, and while he has not that many on hand yet, expects to have before the winter is over. A card has been received from Mrs. E. A. Aseltine, dated December 4th, from Moravia, Iowa. "We are having a very enjoyable journey, much better roads and weather than we even hoped for. Prater are on an auto tour to Laredo, Texas, for a visit with their son, Lieutenant Leland Aseltine of the 37th Infantry. (A later message received by Paw Paw friends states that the party is snowbound in Kansas with the thermometer eight degrees below zero.)

Miss Mildred Van Tassel started for California last Wednesday morning where she expects to remain for a year at least. Leaving Paw Paw wrapped in snow and ice and the thermometer lingering near ten below zero and looking upon New Orleans with flowers blooming within twenty-four hours would surely be a pleasant awakening. She has the best wishes of her many friends here for her safe journey and welfare in the future.

A passing automobile discovered a man near the roadside near the watering trough west of town on Tuesday night about eleven o'clock. He was picked up and carried to the county jail, where he was identified as Frank Wesaw, in a state of helpless intoxication. He thawed out during the night, and Wednesday morning paid a fine and costs to Merton Mason, and departed promising never again to stray from the straight and narrow path.

Ralph Jennings, while at the Stock show in Chicago last week, had the pleasure of a visit with Dan Taylor, who will be remembered by many Paw Paw people as a one time resident of Paw Paw, and an employee of the late George Breck. Mr. Taylor is following his life long occupation as a shepherd of high grade sheep, and is at present in the employ of a wealthy New York sheep raiser. He was in charge of a prize bunch of Shropshires at the show, and sold one last week for $500.00.

A notice of the action taken by the association of Van Buren county will be found in another column of this issue.

Following is a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Salisbury from their son Lynn (Mary) written from Columbus, Ohio:—"Dear Mother and Father, I have been pretty busy, taking Exams and shots in the arm. We sure have been put through some stiff exams, the worst they have, and I passed it almost perfect only one thing wrong, a little flat footed in my right foot, but very slight. Cecil Haworth, Lloyd LePert and myself all passed, and are in the same regiment. Dad, you should be here at Mess time. About six thousand eating at the same time, make some noise. They feed very good here to me. I have sent my clothes all home C. O. D. as I am a little short. You ought to see me in my new uniform. We expect to leave here some time tomorrow for some place in Texas, just where I don't know yet, probably San Antonio. Would like to come home to see you, but probably won't be able for a month or two. They keep $15.00 out of our pay every month and keep it for us until we are done, then we get it with three per cent interest. If anything should happen to me, you will get it. So you see I won't be broke when I get out. I was down town last night to a dance for a while. Had a nice time. Columbus is quite a city. I will be glad when I get down south where it is warm. Well I will close for this time. Give my best to the Boys, and I send love to you both.

This Friday is Parent-Patron day at the Paw Paw schools. The work of the various departments will continue throughout the day as usual so that visitors may have an opportunity to see just what the pupils are doing and how they are doing it. Specimens of work done throughout the year in the various grades will be on display, and it will be a Red Letter day for the school. Parents and patrons should make a special effort to attend some part of the day, as an incentive to the pupils. Every one is certainly proud of the schools, and a special effort should be made to show appreciation for the good work being done this year.

In the passing of E. H. Reynolds the community loses one of its choice spirits. Quiet and unassuming in manner, optimistic in temperament, warm in friendship, faithful to duty, and devout in religion he enjoyed the respect of men and died in peace with God. Eugene Hale Reynolds was born in Canisteo, N. Y., on October 30th, 1859, and departed this life in Paw Paw, Michigan December 6th, 1917 at the age of fifty-seven years, one month and six days. At the age of ten years he moved with his parents to Bay City, Michigan where he lived for about thirty years the greater part of which time he was engaged in the retail shoe business. In 1899 he moved to Houghton, Michigan where he lived for about fourteen years and was also engaged in the shoe business. On July 16th, 1900 he was married to Mrs. Gertrude Gilbert of Houghton. To this union were born two daughters, Emily and Helen. In 1913 Mr. Reynolds bought a farm in Paw Paw where he moved with his family and lived until the day of his decease. When he was seventeen years of age Mr. Reynolds became a christian and united with the Baptist church. In this church at different periods of his life he held offices of Sunday School Superintendent, Deacon, Trustee and Treasurer. He was very zealous in christian service. At his departure he is survived by a wife, two daughters, a step-son Alfred Gilbert, a sister Mrs. S. E. Campbell of Plymouth, Michigan, and a brother E. E. Reynolds of Detroit. Besides he leaves a large circle of friends by whom he will be greatly missed. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in the parlors of the Baptist church and burial was made in Prospect Hill.

The biggest deal ever consummated in the history of baseball was closed this week, when Alexander and Killefer, the star Phillie battery was sold to the Chicago Cubs. The consideration in the deal is said to have been considerable in excess of $50,000 in addition to two other players who figured in the deal. Alexander and Killefer have been the star battery of the Philadelphia club for several seasons, and the work of both players has been little short of phenomenal. Alexander has won ninety-four games in the last three years and is without a peer in this department of the game. Killefer's work in his department ranks as high as does Alexander as a pitcher. Baseball critics have selected Killefer as a member of "The All American" team, and sporting writers on all the metropolitan papers proclaim Alexander and Killefer "Two of Baseball's greatest stars." He is selected by experts as the game's leading catcher, and Pat Moran, manager of the Phillies, pays him the tribute of "Being in a class by himself." Killefer is now on the coast in California, and it is not known how the deal will satisfy him. While he was perfectly satisfied with his berth at Philadelphia, it is probable that he will bring him a little closer home. One thing is sure and that is he will be gratified with the fact that Alexander goes with him in the deal. Alexander and Bill have been close friends for several years, the premier pitcher visiting him at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Killefer here on numerous occasions. Another thing is assured, and that is the local fans will all be pulling for the Cubs to win the pennant next year, and the addition of this line-up of the Cubs will make that team a pretty fair bet for the season.
